PLAINFIELD, NJ - Corey Tucker, a former football player at Plainfield High School, has been hired as the school's new head coach for the sport.

Tucker has been an assistant coach at Plainfield since 2009. He is a graduate of Wilkes University in Pennsylvania.

Tucker was Plainfield's defensive coordinator and, prior to that, he coached the defense at Bound Brook High School. Plainfield was 2-8 last season, winning on opening day against Scotch Plains-Fanwood and defeating Perth Amboy in November.

The Cardinals open their season on Sept. 10.
